Letter from the Chief

Hello all! Summer is here and so is the heat and camping season. The heat has caused dry conditions in the area. Please use caution and common sense when you are having a camp fire or fire in your back yard. Never leave an open fire unattended and make sure it is out and cold when you are done. Remember when you are barbequing to keep the barbeque a safe distance from the house. Make sure the unit is working properly and that the burner is functioning as designed. Never leave a lit barbeque unattended and watch and warn young children playing nearby.

Have a safe and fun summer!!

**HISTORICAL FACT****

During summer 1905 Thomas Duncan McCallum of Danville, Quebec was riding the Western Prairie searching for a suitable location to establish a sheep ranch. His group may well have been the first white persons to see Macklin. He was 40 years of age and had a wife and three children in the Western Townships of Quebec. His parents, Brothers, and himself had run a creamery in Danville. Now, with financial backing from a group of businessmen in Montreal who called their enterprise the Richmond Ranching Company, TD Scoured the prairies. The first spot from which his horse drink readily was the spring-fed Macklin Lake (originally called Sliding Lake as a bear was supposed to have slid down the bank on the south side of the lake) causing Mr. McCallum to decide that the western end of the lake would be just the location to establish the ranch. The slight cover of willows there in an otherwise treeless prairie – all trees having being burned out repeatedly by prairie fires caused by lightning striking the tinder-dry prairie wool – was a great attraction as well.

No God!

by Susan Conly

“Ok, so there is no God”. All the wonders around us are accidental. No almighty hand made a thousand billion stars. No power keeps them on their steady course. The earth spins itself day and night, to keep the oceans from falling off. And the earth gives itself day and night, tilts itself so that we get winter, spring, summer, autumn, century after century, in regular rotation. Then the marvel of our human bodies! No God?? Of course there is a God.

“Just tell me,” said the angry voice when I answered the phone, “where was God Friday evening when those 16 young people were killed near Humbolt? Don’t talk to me about God.” As I turned from the phone I realized this is a natural reaction to the horror. In righteous indignation, the exhaustion of grief, many wonder “God, where were you?” And about prayer—what’s the point?? I am sure some of those young people, certainly many of their parents, had prayed for safe travel that night. Now 16 are dead—that is the stark reality. In our horror and grief we wonder ‘why?’ ‘why?’ —the need to blame some one—“God, where were you?” God is Omnipotent. He’s supposed to answer prayers—right? Too often we forget that God’s created world is based on Law, God’s Laws of the Universe, laws that are fixed and unchangeable. Too, we have human laws to protect, to install order in our lives—if we obey them. But we are not robots. God insisted on complete freedom of choice for us—His amazing gift of ‘free will’ to choose ‘right’ from ‘wrong’. Prayer? We forget that there is value simply in the act of praying, of acknowledging the Presence of the Holy Spirit in our lives. But now there follows this human reaction that mocks God, mocks prayer, that mocks the comforting words of loved ones who say, in all sincerity, “we’ll hold you in our prayers”. Are those simply empty words? I think not. Again, if our prayers are just rote, they very well may be ‘empty words’, just an exercise to ease our consciences without actually ‘doing something’. But you cannot separate sincere prayer from action. When we offer “our thoughts and prayers” this is our promise to ‘respond’; to do something meaningful to ease the heart-break. Prayer must never just be the thought that says, “Well, now I’m off the hook!” God’s world operates on “Laws”, His laws and human laws, including road signs, to protect us as we travel. When we break those laws, there are consequences. On the evening of April 6, one human being deliberately flouted his God-given gift to choose ‘right’ from ‘wrong’, ignored a road sign, drove through an intersection. There were consequences—16 young people died. And where was God? —In the first responders, EMS, other emergency personnel, nurses and doctors; in every comforting word and consoling act by thousands and thousands of people; and ‘Yes, in every tear and flower’. God has no voice, no hands, no feet, but ours.

The Town of Macklin has awarded the tender to expand and renew the water and sewer line capacity along Press Avenue. This section of sewer line is the main trunk for the community carrying effluent to the lagoon system. This project has been many years in planning and is needed to provide an adequate and reliable sewage collection system. The successful tender was presented by PME Construction for the replacement of water lines, sewer line expansion and sewer trunk main expansion to the lagoon system. It is anticipated construction will commence June 1, 2018 with planned completion around August 30, 2018. The curb/gutter/sidewalk and asphalt placement are scheduled for the 2019 construction season. With a completed project estimate of approximately $3.3 million dollars it is a significant investment towards the growth potential of our community.
